Global Teach-In

In connection with the Fiftieth Anniversary, schools worldwide will be encouraged to dedicate a day or even a week to the study of the United Nations and the issues on its global agenda. The most appropriate time to hold special classes will be the week of 24 October 1995 (UN Day) to mark the Fiftieth Anniversary of the date the United Nations Charter entered into force.

In order to assist in this effort, supplementary educational materials are being developed in a variety of languages and will be in distribution by the spring of 1995. In addition, there are plans by several countries to introduce national curricular materials on the United Nations in connection with the Fiftieth Anniversary. Special training programmes for teachers are being arranged by UN Associations and National Committees for the Fiftieth Anniversary in cooperation with professional educators' associations, academic institutions and other local organizations to assist teachers to conduct classes on the United Nations.
